

SECTION ONE

GENERAL INFORMATION

100	Jurisdiction	The City of St. Petersburg is a municipal entity organized and existing under the laws of the State of Florida and has control of and jurisdiction over Port facilities owned and operated by the Port of St. Petersburg. The City has the power to fix and regulate charges for the use of the facilities and to enact and enforce rules and regulations governing the use of the facilities.
105	Enforcement	The Port Director shall be responsible for the enforcement of the rules, regulations or charges set forth in this Port of St. Petersburg Tariff No. 3 for and on behalf of the City of St. Petersburg. If the Port Director determines that there is a violation of the rules or regulations set forth in said Tariff, he shall notify the alleged offending common carrier, vessel, vessel owner, shipper, receiver, tenant or agent, in writing, describing the violation in detail and setting forth the particular portion of the Tariff alleged to be violated. Upon receipt of a notice of violation, the alleged offender shall cease all volatile activities. If aggrieved by the notice of violation, the alleged offender may appeal same by filing a written petition with the Port Director within ten (10) days of receipt of the notice of violation. The filing of the petition does not authorize the notice of violation. The Port Director shall act upon the petition within thirty (30) days of its filing at a regular or special meeting of the Port Director with notice to all affected parties. If still aggrieved by the decision of the Port Director, the alleged offender may take further action in the courts as it deem appropriate.
110	Location	The Port of St. Petersburg is located on the North side of Bayboro Harbor, which is on the West side of Tampa Bay on the Florida's Gulf Coast. (See NOAA Chart 11416).
115	Harbor Entrance	Bayboro Harbor inner entrance channel extends westward into the harbor proper from an intersection of two outer entrance channels in lower Tampa Bay at approximate position 27 degrees 45.5' N, 82 degrees 37.0' W.
120	Berthing	Approximately 1300 lineal feet of bulkhead wharfage exist on the North side of Bayboro Harbor bounded on the West by the University of South Florida and on the East by the U.S. Coast Guard facilities. The Port of St. Petersburg's passenger terminal occupies the western portion of the bulkhead with the rest of the wharf available for general cargo operations on an available basis. The Port's main basin measures 1300 feet with a safety turning radius of 1000 feet.
130	Storage	Serving the berthing areas and wharves are approximately 4 acres of land available for waterborne oriented development. The Port Authority owns approximately 8,450.00 square feet of conditioned/unconditioned space available for short term lease. Ample open storage (mol 49,000 sq. ft.) is available for both short and

215	Damage to Facilities	All vessels, their owners or agents, and all other users or the facilities shall be held responsible for all damage to the facilities occasioned by them. The City of St. Petersburg may detain any vessel or other water craft responsible for damage to the facilities until sufficient security has been given for the amount of the damage. It shall be the responsibility of the users of the facilities to report any damages occasioned by them to the Port Director immediately.
220	Vehicles on Facilities	It shall be unlawful for the owner or the driver of any automobile, truck, trailer or other vehicle, to allow same to remain parked on any wharf, transit shed or warehouse, or any roadway on the Port facilities, for a longer period than is necessary to load or unload its cargo or its passengers.
225	Wharf Obstruction	Stevadore's tools, appliances and equipment, vehicles, or any other material or object which is not part of the cargo, will not be permitted to remain or be stored on the aprons, wharves, wharf premises, driveways, roadways, or any other location that would hamper normal Port operations without specific approval of the Port Director. If it be ordered removed and not be removed, such material will be removed and stored at cost plus 50%.
230	Cleanliness of Premises	All vessels, their owners or agents, and all other users of the facilities, shall be held responsible for cleaning of the property which they or any of them, have been allowed to use, assigned or leased to them, or any of them, including adjacent aprons and gutters, as directed by the Port Director. If such users do not properly clean the facilities or property they or any of them have been using, the Port Director shall order the property cleaned and bill the users responsible at cost, plus 50%, with a minimum charge of $100.00.

SECTION TWO

GENERAL INFORMATION

235	No Smoking	It shall be unlawful for any person to smoke or light any match or lighter upon the port wharves or in the immediate vicinity of vessels containing, loading, or discharging explosives or dangerous cargo and/or any other area where such is prohibited by the Port, the Fire Department or the U.S. Coast Guard.
240	Loitering	It shall be unlawful for any person to loiter upon the properties of the Port of St. Petersburg. It shall be unlawful for unauthorized persons to enter terminal, cargo movement or handling areas. Persons using the port facilities do so at their own risk, and City (Port) of St. Petersburg will assume no responsibility for injuries or damages sustained.
245	Emergencies	Anyone on the Port property at any time becoming aware of an emergency situation of any nature shall notify a responsible City of St. Petersburg representative and the Port Director by the fastest means (emergency phone number 911), while taking such immediate action as may be appropriate.
250	Signs	Painting signs on structures belonging to the Port is prohibited without prior written approval. Signs to be erected on the Port shall be furnished by the Port users and erected or placed by the user after the Director shall have approved the design material and size of said signs. All signs shall be uniform.
255	Solicitation	It shall be unlawful for any person to solicit or carry on any business on the Port property without first obtaining written authorization from the Port Director and will be subject to having a city occupational license.
260	Terminal Rights	The Port of St. Petersburg reserves the right to control the loading, unloading and handling of all cargo on the premises and facilities under its control. It is at the Port Director's decision to refuse use of dock and/or other Port facility. The Port also reserves the right to estimate and collect in advance all charges which may accrue against common carriers, vessels, their owners, and agents, or against cargo loaded or discharged by such vessels or other users of the facilities of the Port whose credit has not been properly established with the Port, or who had habitually been on the delinquent list. Use of the facilities may be denied until such advance payment or deposits are made. The Port of St. Petersburg reserves the right to apply any payment received against the oldest bill rendered against common carriers, their owners and/or agents, or other users of the facilities.
265	Rental of Space	Stevedores, agents, or others having an interest in waterborne cargoes and desiring office space, gear rooms, or floor space, will make application to the Port Director, who will establish rentals and determine conditions upon which the desired space may be leased. All leased storage area must be approved by the Port Director and he has the right to deny any person a lease or use of Port facilities.

SECTION TWO

GENERAL INFORMATION

270	Stevedoring and Marina Cargo Handling Services and Charges	The loading, unloading, or handling of cargo must be performed by a stevedore, marine terminal operator duly licensed. The practice in this Port is for the licensed stevedore/terminal operator to perform vessel and terminal cargo handling. Charges for handling cargo shall be billed by stevedores/terminal operators directly for whom these services are performed. The Port or City does not participate in negotiations relative to cargo handling charges.
275	Watchmen or Security	It is the responsibility of all Port users to furnish their own watchmen when they have cargo and other property on Port premises which has high susceptibility to theft; watchmen so employed must have prior written clearance by the Port Director. All watchmen or security officer must be licensed by the State of Florida and possess a TWIC card.
280	Abandoned Cargo	Any cargo on which charges have not been collected within 45 days shall be considered abandoned cargo. The Port of St. Petersburg reserves the right to remove any or all such property to another part of the premises, or remove it and place it in storage off the Port at the risk and expense of the owner. The City of St. Petersburg may retain possession of the property until all charges have been paid. When the Director determines final abandonment of cargo in any instance, he shall dispose of same and credit the City of St. Petersburg with any funds realized.
285	Explosives, Flammables and Other Hazardous Commodities	Explosives and hazardous or highly flammable commodities or material may be handled over, or received on the wharves or other facilities of the Port of St. Petersburg by special arrangements with and at the option of the port Director; subject to Federal, State and City laws, ordinances, rules and regulations and approval from U.S. Coastguard. A Material Safety Data Sheet under OSHA regulation must be filed with Port Director.
290	Application for Berth	All vessels, their owners or agents, desiring a berth at the wharves, shall make application to the Port Authority specifying the date of docking and sailing, the nature and quantity of cargo to be handled, and the name of the vessel not less than 72 hours prior to the vessel's arrival. The Port Authority shall be given updated information as to the vessel's estimated arrival time 48 hours and 24 hours in advance of docking. Additionally, all vessels will provide the Port with an estimated time of completion (ETC), and sailing time. The Port of St. Petersburg reserves the right to assign berths for the best utilization of Port facilities. All decisions of the Port Director are final.
295	Change of Locations of Vessels	Any vessel, boat, barge or other water craft, must at all times have available a person in charge with authority to take such action in any actual emergency as may be necessary in order to facilitate common navigation or commerce or for the protection of other vessels or property. The Port Director may direct, for the purpose of facilitating

295 Continued		navigation or commerce, or for the protection of other vessels or property, and it shall be unlawful for the master, owner or agent of such a vessel to fail, neglect or refuse to obey any such orders of the Port Director. If there is no responsible person available, or if the person in charge refuses to shift the vessel as directed, the Port of St. Petersburg shall have the vessel shifted at the risk and expense of the vessel.
300	Anchorage in Port Turning Basin	It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, whether as principal, servant, agent, employee, or otherwise, to anchor any vessel, boat, barge, or other water craft of any kind in the turning basin or in the channel in the Port of St. Petersburg except in cases of actual emergency. (Also governed by city code section 7-207)
305	Obstruction to Navigation	No substances, which will sink or form an obstruction to navigation, or become a nuisance, shall not be deposited in the waters or Port of St. Petersburg.
310	Severe Weather Safe Harbor Disclaimer	All vessels, their owners, charter parties, and/or agents requesting to berth at the Port in the event of a major storm or very heavy weather are hereby put on notice that due to the geographical location, physical characteristics and other factors, the Port should not be considered a safe harbor for vessels in the event of a major storm or heavy weather, and any such vessel permitted to berth at the Port of St. Petersburg as refuge from a major storm or very heavy weather assumes the risk for all damages and losses to the vessel and all navigational aids, docks, wharves, piers, fenders, buildings or other Port facilities. Any such damages or loss in that event shall be the responsibility of the vessels, their owners, charter parties and/or agents and shall not be construed to be an act of God.
315	Vessels to Vacate	The Port Authority may order any vessel to vacate any berth when the Authority deems that the continued presence of such vessel at such berth would be a potential hazard to the vessel, the berth, the Port's facilities, or the rights or property or safety of others, or would unreasonably interfere with the use of the Port's facilities by others. Such situations include, but are not limited to, the following: when a potential natural disaster such as a hurricane, tornado, earthquake, or flooding, makes the continued presence of the vessel a threat to the vessel and/or the Port's facilities; when the berth is committed to others under a application for berth, when the vessel's cargo or their items are a hazard to other vessels, cargo or facilities; and when the vessel fails to work continuously or within reason to completion of its loading and/or discharge. If a vessel fails to vacate upon request of the Port Authority, without reasonable excuse, it shall be held responsible for any damage or expense which results to the Port and to others caused by such failure to vacate. Also, the Port Authority shall have the option (but not the duty) to move the vessel to other locations at the risk and expense of the vessel. If such movement occurs, the vessel shall hold harmless the Port of St. Petersburg any liability it may incur as a result of such a movement.

GENERAL INFORMATION

315 Continued		If a vessel refuses to vacate a berth, the Port Authority reserves the right to deny said vessel future berthing privileges and vessel will be charged the following rate: Triple the applicable dockage rate.
320	Pilot Regulations	Pilotage by a pilot licensed, or deputy pilot indentured, by the State Pilot Commission for the Port of St. Petersburg is compulsory for foreign vessels and all coastwise vessels, except those enrolled United States coastwise vessels which have on board a pilot licensed by the United States Government. If a vessel is sailing to a foreign port or arriving from a foreign port, it must engage a pilot licensed, apprentice pilot indentured by the State Pilot Commission for the Port of St. Petersburg, Florida, even though a United States licensed pilot may be on board. All pilot service herein provided shall be by contractual arrangement running solely between the pilot engaged by the vessel and the vessel, its agents and owners; with the City (Port) of St. Petersburg and the State Pilot Commission not being in privity in any such way as to such contractual arrangement. Pilotage is required for all vessels with a draft of seven (7) feet or more, docking or undocking, unless specifically exempted by the Port Director.
325	Pilot Control	All pilots, including those holding a United States license, shall obey the directions of the Port Director given un any particular instance as to vessel movement on the waters under jurisdiction of the Port of St. Petersburg, either inbound or outbound, berthing, re-berthing, regarding vessel movement coordination and safety, while in the Bayboro Harbor Basin and Port of St. Petersburg approach channel . Any party failing to so obey any such direction of the Port Director shall be held liable for damages and maybe banned from future use of the Port facilities.
330	Air Navigation Hazards	The Port of St. Petersburg is located within an Active Airport Control Zone. Any waterborne surface navigation or operational circumstances considered by the master to be a possible hazard to low flying aircraft must immediately be reported to the Port Director by fastest means possible.
335	Speeding	It shall be unlawful for vessels or other watercraft to proceed at a speed which will endanger other vessels or structures. Official signs indicating limited speeds through critical portions of the waterways shall be strictly obeyed. Bayboro Harbor enforces an idle/no wake speed limit. (Also governed by city code section 7-80)
340	Swimming in Basin and/or Channel	All swimming shall be prohibited in the Port of St. Petersburg's basin and/or and any other navigable channel. (Also governed by city code section 7-79)
345	Discharge of Oil, etc. into Waterway	It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, to deposit, place, or discharge into the waterways of the Port of St. Petersburg, either directly or through private or public sewers, any sanitary sewage, butcher's offal, garbage, dead animals, gaseous liquid or solid
